This is Part II of my article on Shopping Addiction. Part I was in last weeks bulletin.

Short-Term and Long-Term Effects of a Shopping Addiction: The short-term effects of a shopping addiction may feel positive. In many cases, you may feel happy after completing a shopping trip. However, these feelings are often mixed with anxiety or guilt, and in most cases, the guilt or anxiety may propel you back to the store for even more shopping. The long-term effects of a shopping addiction can vary in intensity and scope. Many shopping addicts face financial problems, and they may become overwhelmed with debt. In some cases, they may simply max out their credit cards, but in other cases, they may take out a second mortgage on their home or charge purchases to their business credit card. If you are addicted to shopping, your personal relationships may also suffer. You may end up getting a divorce or distancing yourself from your parents, children or other loved ones.

Is There a Test or Self-Assessment I Can Do? If you are still trying to figure out whether or not you are a shopaholic, Shopaholics Anonymous suggests that you ask yourself the following questions. If you answer “yes” to many of these questions, you may have an addiction. The questions are:

- Do you shop when you feel angry or disappointed?
- Has overspending created problems in your life?
- Do you have conflicts with loved ones about your need to shop?
- While shopping, do you feel euphoric rushes or anxiety?
- After shopping, do you feel like you have just finished doing something wild or dangerous?
- After shopping, do you ever feel guilty or embarrassed about what you have done?
- Do you frequently buy things that you never end up using or wearing?
- Do you think about money almost all the time?

Depression and Shopping: According to Donald Black from the University of Iowa, as quoted in Esperanza magazine, nearly two-thirds of all shopaholics struggle with depression or anxiety. In order to effectively treat your shopping addiction, you may also need to deal with your other mental health issues. Ideally, when searching for a recovery program, you should try to find a recovery program that can address both aspects of your addiction.

Getting Help for a Shopping Addiction: It isn't fun to feel out of control or depressed about shopping too much. It isn't pleasant to lose those close to you due to the arguments that may occur as a result of your shopping addiction. If you are, or a loved one is struggling with a shopping addiction, it is time to get help now. Please contact me for referrals or contact a mental health practitioner.

RCIA—RITE OF CHRISTIAN INITIATION OF ADULTS

BECOMING CATHOLIC...THE LITURGICAL SEASON OF ADVENT. Each of the liturgical seasons has its own distinctive “feel” to it, and Advent is no exception. The simplicity of the decorations and the liturgical color purple (just like in Lent) remind us that we are preparing for a great feast day in the Church. Advent also (like Lent) includes an element of penance in the sense of preparing, quieting and disciplining our hearts for the full joy of Christmas. Often Catholic families will have an Advent Wreath in their homes to remind them that Christ, the light of the world, is coming. Some families will gradually place the figures from their Nativity scene near the stable as Advent unfolds. The readings at Mass remind us of the importance of preparing the way of the Lord...not only as a remembrance of his coming as a baby, but making room in our hearts for Jesus each and every day.

On the Third Sunday of Advent--known as “Gaudete Sunday,” meaning “rejoice”--we light a pink candle on the Advent wreath. This is the Church's way of heightening our expectation as we draw ever nearer the Solemnity of Christmas. How can you infuse an element of Christian rejoicing into your other preparations for Christmas? Isaiah gives us good reason to rejoice in today's first reading: “Those whom the Lord has ransomed will return and enter Zion singing, crowned with everlasting joy; they will meet with joy and gladness, sorrow and mourning will flee.”

Looking for hope? Seeking a spiritual home? Wanting answers to life's big questions? We invite you to explore the Catholic Church and find out how a deeper relationship with Jesus Christ can change your life for the better. We welcome all inquiries and look forward to accompanying you. Contact Casey Conner, RCIA director, at casey.conner@sacredheartwdm.org or 515-225-6414 ext. 309.

GIFT—GROWING IN FAITH TOGETHER
ADULT FAITH FORMATION TEAM

GIFT is once again giving away a book this Christmas. Our selection this year is, Mother Teresa of Calcutta: A Personal Portrait, a compilation of first-hand accounts of the humorous, gifted, wise, and arresting woman from Albania, written by her close companion, Fr. Leo Maasburg. Stop by the gathering space after all Masses Dec 17/18 to pick up your copy. Many additional books will also be available. Makes great Christmas gifts or just to add to your own library! Please consider a small free-will donation to help support future GIFT programs.

MAGNA 24 will begin regular meetings on the 2nd and 4th Mondays of each month beginning again in January.

The library is a GREAT resource here at Sacred Heart and we want to make it even better! Let's restock the library. Time to clean out your cupboards. Please bring in religious books, cd's and videos to donate to the library. Previously read and gently used materials are welcome! Don't know what to do with that stack of already read books? Share them with others! Current (post 2000) publications as well as Spanish materials especially appreciated. All donations can be left in the library shelf marked "donations" to the left when you walk in the door. Items can be left on Sunday on your way to Mass or anytime you are in the building. Materials will be approved before being added to the library. Stay tuned for a newly updated library in 2017!

¿Porque celebramos la fiesta de nuestra señora de Guadalupe? Celebramos a nuestra señora de Guadalupe porque esta celebración define nuestra fe y nuestra identidad como católicos que veneramos la Madre de Dios y creemos que a través de ella Jesucristo viene al mundo. Celebramos esta fiesta porque para nosotros María representa un modelo a seguir en el caminar cristiano. En María nosotros vemos la obediencia encarnada dando apertura al plan salvífico de Dios. María responde he aquí la esclava del señor hágase en mi según su palabra.

Hermanos María nos reta a que cada uno de nosotros digamos si a Dios. ¿Cuántos de nosotros venimos a misa todos los domingos? Probablemente la mitad de los que asistimos el día 12 de diciembre. Hermanos este 12 de diciembre, les invito a que se hagan esta pregunta: ¿Que me quiero lleva en mi corazón esta noche? me quiero llevar alegría en mi corazón sabiendo que he recibido a Jesús a través de María o quiero regresar a mi casa con las manos vacías?

Pope Francis says wherever there are Christians, "...everyone should find an oasis of mercy." How have you experienced your parish community as an "oasis of mercy?"
